

Management Policy

of the business unit Winkelmann Building+Industry

If we provide our customers with lasting satisfaction, we will be long-term successful

The partnership-based cooperation with our customers and suppliers is the basis of our success. All employees ensure that we stay before, during and after the sale of our products a competent contact person for the customers.

Highest quality of our processes and products is our claim

To achieve this, we work with a strong team for a continuous improvement of our products and processes. Important team members are our customers and suppliers. In permanent dialogues with the customers their requirements are taken up, the suppliers are defined accordingly and they are constantly developed.

Standardization of processes of a global world is the basis to ensure a successful international cooperation. Wherever a product is produced, our customer gets the same proven quality. Employees also benefit because they move in one system independent from the location in the business unit.

Occupational safety, health and environmental protection build the basis

The employees are our most important resource and make our success possible. We support open and respectful communication to promote creativity, engagement and motivation. We are all committed to protect the environment and continually improve our environmental management system and environmental performance. We fulfill our obligations and constantly monitor compliance with applicable regulations.

Statement on compliance

All employees agree to comply with ethical and legal requirements as well as the company's internal guidelines. This also applies to cooperation with customers and suppliers.
